Presidents Message ...

Wendy Pazen
President 2010-2011

What a busy and exciting meeting we had. We had the pleasure of a visit from President Lillian Canterbury from Moorpark Morning. Lily had visited our club on a couple of occasions and then sponsored one of our newest members, Ken Kagan. Ken was inducted along with Danielle Brinkman, who was sponsored by Jeff Hata (remember him?). Both are CPA's with a tremendous amount of energy and a good sense of humor – very necessary in our club! Thank you Lily and Jeff for giving Ken and Danielle the Gift of Rotary!

From 1:00 to 1:30, we had our first Avenues of Service break-out meeting. The Avenue Chairs and the Fundraiser Chair, each selected a table and the members moved to the tables that were of interest to them. This was an opportunity for most of our members to learn about our club's current activities and get involved, without having to give up additional time from family, work, and other commitments. This is the day and time that they have already scheduled for Rotary.

Most of the tables had more people at them than had ever shown up at the monthly Avenues of Service meetings. We're hoping that this will continue to get more members involved and made aware of what our club is doing. There are a tremendous amount of ideas and solutions that have not yet been expressed.

Deborah Roberts is looking for sponsors and raffle prizes for the upcoming "Nightmare on the Hill" costume party and casino. If you are able to help out, please do not wait for her to call you ---- call or email her!! She is very busy with 2 businesses and really needs help with this fundraiser.

Hopefully, everyone received my email regarding the cancellation of the August 7, Harbor Cruise and Fair Fireworks Display. We only had 18 people signed-up for the Cruise, with an additional 6 verbally committed. We needed 50 to break even. The Board voted to cut our losses and cancel the event. Since then, I have heard that several people wanted to go, but had not signed up or contacted our Club Service Chair, Tom Swan. Next time, sign up early and be committed. To quote District Secretary, Nancy Falconer, "Don't be Rotary Rude".

Dear Lord, please don't let the club fall apart in my year. Only 48 more weeks to go.

Wendy

The sender, who claims to be the executor of the will, then asks for the recipient's personal information, including a copy of the individual's passport and driver's license, in order to claim the inheritance.

New collaboration strengthens AIDS fight

By Ryan Hyland
Rotary International News -- 26 July 2010

A Rotarian Action Group committed to fighting AIDS is joining forces with a global health organization that has used scientific methodology to prevent disease and improve the lives of women and children living in poverty.

Marion Bunch, founder of Rotarians for Fighting AIDS looks on as Albert Siemens, FHI chair and CEO, signs a memorandum of understanding in Montréal, Québec, Canada, in June, which commits the two organizations to explore potential collaborative initiatives. Rotarians for Fighting AIDS and Family Health International (FHI) signed a memorandum of understanding during the RI Convention in Montréal, Québec, Canada, in June, committing to seek out collaborative initiatives to help those affected by HIV/AIDS, primarily in Africa. They will draw on their complementary capabilities, resource networks, and respective areas of expertise to provide care and nutrition, and teach health education and life skills to orphans, vulnerable children, and their families.

"I'm excited about the partnership with FHI because we both have the ability to create a stronger, sustainable solution using the efforts of Rotarian leadership at a country level and international level," says Marion Bunch, head of the action group and a member of the Rotary Club of Dunwoody, Georgia, USA. "FHI's technical expertise and leading-edge programs will help strengthen the global response to the 'whole' needs of children and families."

FHI was founded in 1971 as the International Fertility Research Program by a small group of researchers at the University of North Carolina, with funding from USAID. Since then, the organization has changed its name and broadened its mission, emphasizing the use of science, measurement, and evaluation to develop standards for advancing maternal health and AIDS prevention.

The FHI team of 2,500 physicians, scientists, and technical experts in health, development, and management has worked with 1,400 partners to make measurable progress against disease, poverty, and inequity in 125 countries.

Mobilizing Rotarians

Rotarians for Fighting AIDS was founded in 2003 by Bunch, who lost her son Jerry to AIDS in 1994. The group aims to mobilize Rotarians to work on HIV/AIDS education and prevention projects, with a particular focus on developing and implementing community support efforts for orphans and at-risk children.

"I really appreciate FHI's holistic approach to providing a 'canopy of care,'" Bunch says. "This provides comprehensive support for the child and his or her family."

She adds that FHI's approach is broader than the strategies the action group has employed. Its methodology will enhance efforts to prevent HIV infection in newborns and older children.

"The collaboration between our two organizations is a natural fit," says Albert Siemens, FHI chair and CEO. "We share a vision of improving lives and a special commitment to providing a brighter future for children whose lives have been devastated by HIV/AIDS."

Bunch's relationship with FHI began five years ago, when board member and Rotarian Peyton Woodson called to congratulate her on the action group's new partnerships with HOPE Worldwide and the Coca-Cola Africa Foundation. "We saw eye to eye on a lot of things and decided to stay in touch," she says.

Bunch says the collaboration with FHI will give Rotarians for Fighting AIDS increased access to government funding and the ability to carry out more initiatives. "I learned the high level of respect they receive from governments and other industry leaders," she says. "FHI's breadth of staff and programs is exciting."

Siemens says Rotarians offer ground support, a global donor base, communication infrastructure, and the ability to form strong partnerships.

"Coupled with FHI's unmatched technical expertise, science-based solutions, and worldwide platform of people, we'll offer the potential for highly effective initiatives that will make lasting improvements in children's lives," Siemens says.
