Presidents Message ...

Deborah Roberts
President 2008-2009

As you know, growing our membership is imperative to our success as a Rotary Club. Several of us attended the District 5240 membership seminar this past weekend. Thank you to Jeff Hata, Wendy Pazen and Tom Swan for giving up their Saturday morning to learn how we can be more effective recruiting new members and keeping our existing members actively involved.

We have some work ahead of us this year with regards to membership. We average an annual loss of about 10%, which is comparative to other clubs, but not where I want us to end the year. If we decide to be more proactive about recruiting new members, we could easily grow our club and committees without that nagging feeling of “we’re shrinking”. I’m going to challenge each one of you to sponsor at least one new member this year. I have a personal goal to bring in more than just one new member myself. Please take a few minutes to look through the sample Classification list. Who do you know or do business with on this list? Would they be interested in Rotary? You won’t know until you ask!

Stay tuned for creative ideas in recruitment...

Yours in Rotary Service,
Deborah Roberts
President 2008-2009
The Rotary Club of Ventura-East

Classification List

This Classification list is general in nature and could be used in most medium size Rotary Clubs.

To customize it for your club simply remove the classifications that are not available in your area and add those that are not shown on this list. It is suggested that you use a Chamber of Commerce business list or the headings in your local yellow page phone directory to help modify this list to fit your available classifications.

Reformat and show your member's name after their classification and the classifications left without a name are the ones you need to start filling.

Capt. Anthony Schlotthauer spoke to us about the Civil Air Patrol.

Part of our program was on the search for pilot Steve Fossett. He took off on Monday, September 3, 2007, looking for a dry lake bed. This was a casual flight and he was not prepared with survival provisions. He had set over 115 records in five different sports including a number in aircraft, and flew a hot air balloon, solo, around the world. On this day, he did not return on time for a meeting and was reported missing. By Tuesday, September 4, the search began.

Anthony's crew flew up toward Mt. Whitney on a moonless night, reporting in every 30 minutes. Then, each morning at 6 a.m. there was a briefing. Each crew was assigned a grid for their aircraft to cover. Actually three aircraft were involved, stacked above each other, with a C-130 relaying radio messages and a Blackhawk helicopter searching as well.

Each grid is 15 square miles. They flew one hour to get to the grid, then crisscrossed the grid for two hours, finally returning for food, rest and fuel. His crew usually flies a Cessna 182. They have a hyperspectral infrared imaging device which looks for heat anomalies in the soil which may indicate a crash site. One problem is there is a lot of water in the mountains where they searched, and if a plane went into a lake, any heat would be quickly lost and this device would not locate it.

The ride over those mountains can be very bumpy. If they see something, they may bank hard and drop down to get a closer look, pulling 2-3 g forces. There are a lot of shiny things visible from the air, which on closer inspection, are not crash sites. Large trees can easily cover a plane. Sometimes a plane crash will cause a fire which will help rescuers locate the site.

The full search included about 22,000 square miles. During the search they located six other wrecks, including one from 1974 I believe, resulting in the relatives being notified so they could have closure to their tragedy. The CAP gets a call whenever an Emergency Locator Transmitter goes off. ELT signals are routed to Langley Air Force Base in Virginia, which then contact the local CAP squadron. A lot of these are false alarms, but Anthony has a great sense of satisfaction when he is able to help locate and rescue someone who has been stranded.

Thanks, Anthony, for your service to your country!
