Presidents Message ...

Deborah Roberts
President 2008-2009

Fall is here. I know this because we watched the last glimpses of the sun just after 5:00 PM, we cancelled the PiggyQ due to rain and I've been living in my feetie-jammies all weekend. This new season reinforces the constant change in our lives, as well as in nature. November 2008 will prove politically historical for our country, ironically as we give thanks for all this year has brought.

In Rotary, we recognize the Rotary International Foundation this month.

Why? To understand the RI Foundation, it's helpful to have a little background (yup, I'm using The ABC's of Rotary to fill my article space, again) From PRIP Cliff Dochterman's book, the following is a brief history:

"...In 1917 RI President Arch Klumph told the delegates to the Atlanta Convention that "it seems eminently proper that we should accept endowments for the purpose of doing good in the world." The response was polite and favorable, but the fund was slow to materialize. A year later the "Rotary Endowment Fund," as it was first labeled, received its first contribution of $26.50 from the Rotary Club of Kansas City, which was the balance of the Kansas City Convention account following the 1918 annual meeting. Additional small amounts were annually contributed, but after six years it is reported that the endowment fund had only reached $700. A decade later, The Rotary Foundation was formally established at the 1928 Minneapolis Convention. In the next four years the Foundation fund grew to $50,000. In 1937 a $2 million goal was announced for The Rotary Foundation, but these plans were cut short and abandoned with the outbreak of World War II.

In 1947, upon the death of Paul Harris, a new era opened for The Rotary Foundation as memorial gifts poured in to honor the founder of Rotary. From that time, The Rotary Foundation has been achieving its noble objective of furthering "understanding and friendly relations between peoples of different nations." By 1954 the Foundation received for the first time a half million dollars in contributions in a single year, and in 1965 a million dollars was received..."

In this Rotary year, The Rotary Club of Ventura East is paying special attention to our own, local foundation as well. We will have District representatives to talk specifically about the RI Foundation and to answer questions about its' particulars, including our roles as Rotarians on a local level. We'll also bring information about our Club's foundation to understand

Rich Stewart introduced the program.

== Harriet Clune

Our Vocational Service program was from three of our Club's real estate professionals: Judy Hoag, Harriet Clune and Rich Stewart. Rich began by noting others in our Club who also are in some aspect of the real estate profession. Each of our speakers gave their background of how they came to Ventura and got into the real estate business.

They pointed out some of the work that goes on behind the scenes to make a deal come together, including coordination of various people and services and following up to be sure everything is progressing as it should. An experienced person will notice potential "red flags" and attempt to deal with them before they create a problem.

We were also given some information on the current state of the real estate market and home values. Right now, banks are generally holding off on foreclosing and waiting for the government bailout to help them. Inventory of available houses is not real high in Ventura, but it is a different story in Oxnard, where there is a lot of new housing competing for buyers. Values of the more expensive properties, such as in the Ventura Keys, have not fallen as much as the lower priced homes.

According to the California Association of Realtors and the UCLA Anderson School of Business, prices should stabilize by the end of 2009. Our speakers felt the climb back up will take another four years or more. Some comments were that this is a good time to be a buyer. Financing is not as loose as it has been, but it is available and based on each buyer's situation.

Thank you, Judy, Harriet and Rich, for a timely discussion of the real estate business and the state of the real estate economy.

Because our lives are ever-changing, our goals need to be ever-changing, too. Please, give your input. What would you like to see happen? What should our goals be for the future? This year? Next year? What are we doing well? What could we be doing better? We have a whole new month of Community Service, Club Service, Vocational Service, New Generations, International Service and Board meetings. We will pay special attention to, and determine some of our future goals for the RI Foundation and The Rotary Club of Ventura East Foundation throughout this month. Connect, be heard.

Home-schooled students form Interact club

By Arnold R. Grahl

Rotary International News -- 4 November 2008

From her vantage point as a public librarian in Norman, Oklahoma, USA, Basha Hartley could see how hard home-schooling parents work to educate their children.

She also noticed how home-schooled children can become isolated from their peers at public high schools.

"I began noticing these great kids who are kind of invisible in our community," says Hartley, a member of the Rotary Club of Norman. "I don't think most of our club was aware of this fairly large group of home-schooled children."

After three years of talking to home-schooling families, Hartley was able to persuade a group of teens to begin an Interact club in August 2007. The Norman Home School Interact meets monthly in the library -- with Hartley and Joe Gil, of the Rotary Club of Norman-Cross Timbers, as sponsors -- and held its charter banquet in June.

"Parents, for a whole variety of reasons, decide on home schooling their children," says Hartley. "I thought it would be really great to get these kids involved in Rotary because Rotary is all about helping our kids."

One of the first

Hartley and RI staff believe the club is one of the first, if not the first, for home schoolers. In addition to its regular meeting, the club takes part in a service project every month with the Interact club at Norman High School, creating valuable bonds between the students.

The two Interact clubs have bought Christmas presents for foster children, volunteered at an animal sanctuary, and taken part in a "crop walk" to raise money for world hunger. One of the leaders in the home-schooled group also launched a project with the local 4H club, purchasing pet food at a discount and repackaging it in small bags to distribute to pet owners in the Meals on Wheels program.

"What they were finding is that some of the Meals on Wheels clients were feeding their meals to their pets because they didn't have enough money for pet food," Hartley says. "What was great about this project was that many of the Interact kids from the high school didn't know much about 4H before this."

Hartley says the home-schooled students often have a more flexible schedule and are eager to volunteer their time. That involvement increases their visibility in the community and helps their parents get connected as well.

"Being a member of Interact has made my friends and me want to be more involved in our community and really help people in need," says Becky Seewald, 2007-08 club president. "Through Interact, we all now share a greater sense of investment in our environment, our relationships, and the vision we share for our world."

Hartley would like to see the club serve as a model for other communities.

"They have so much to give; they really love Service Above Self," Hartley says of the home-schooled students. "What we are saying is, let's join together to give. As a community, we will work together."
