Presidents Message ...

Jeff Hata
President 2009-2010

Good luck and have fun to our RYLA counselors Deborah Roberts, Wendy Pazen and Bill Spellman. It's really a great thing that our counselors do every year when they volunteer to be at RYLA.

As a parent of a RYLA student, it is really a life changing event our our children's lives when they attend RYLA. You don't even have to ask. The first thing Caitlin told me when I picked her up was "Thank you." She told me how inspirational the experience was and how much "fun" she had. She also told me she didn't miss her cell phone at all! For those of you with teenage kids or grandkids, you know they can't live without their cell phones.

If you get the chance go up and visit and see first hand what's happening at RYLA, I know every year our counselors come back with at least one story of how a RYLA student had their life changed by the experience. I'm sure we will hear many more stories this year also.

This week end is Rotarians at Work Day. Come on out and let's help clean-up and freshen up Tender Life Maternity! It will be fun as it has been in previous years.

Please read the press release about "Operation Splash" that our club is funding for the Ventura Family YMCA. A special thank you to our club's Board of Directors for funding this project. We will truly make a difference to about 300 homeless youth this summer!

YIRS
Jeff Hata

We then listened to our program introduced by Nikki Sloan.

Eva and Rachel of the Ventura County American Red Cross presented important information regarding disaster preparedness to our Rotary club today. The American Red Cross provides emergency response across the world for a variety of disasters including home/wild fires, floods, hurricanes, earthquakes. In fact, the Red Cross was instrumental in providing over $418 million to Haiti's relief efforts. Of that, Ventura County was responsible for $1 million of the funds raised!

The Red Cross suggests a three actions to better prepare ourselves for an emergency: 1) get a kit 2) make a plan and practice it 3) be informed. You should ideally have 3 emergency kits. One "Go Kit", a second workplace or car kit and a third home kit. Your kit should contain items such as: 1 gallon of water per person per day, canned food with a can opener, 1st Aide kit, flashlight, duct tape, tool, glow sticks, whistles, shoes, glasses, medications, bleach, cash and pet supplies. The American Red Cross offers a comprehensive list of items you should have in addition to offering classes on CPR, fire extinguisher usage and other emergency disaster preparedness. Being prepared, means being pro active not reactive in an emergency. Take the time to prepare your business, home and most importantly your family for the next disaster.

Rachel from the American Red Cross spoke about disaster preparedness.

Best Regards,
Nikki Sloan

YMCA Operation Splash to Provide Free Swim Lessons for Homeless Children

The Ventura Family YMCA and The Rotary Club of Ventura –East have come together to provide free swim lessons for children living in shelters and transitional homes in Ventura. Operation Splash will be held at the Ventura Family YMCA and will teach swim lessons to over 300 children in the area.

Each child will participate in a 4 week session consisting of 8 swim lessons that will include basic swimming techniques and pool safety skills. Along with providing swim lessons, the Ventura Family YMCA is currently holding a swim suit, towel and goggle drive in order to collect new or gently used items for the children in Operation Splash.

“Most of these children are in unfortunate situations.” explains, Ventura Family Aquatics Director, Amber Stevens. “The YMCA is here to provide opportunities for everyone in our community. Learning how to swim, while fun, is also great exercise that can act as a stress relief and provide a sense of accomplishment.”

The Rotary Club of Ventura- East has a tradition of participating in international projects but this year wanted to create a program in the community that would make a difference locally. “As a beach community, we are all sensitive to the news reports every year where a child drowns because they never learned to swim” said Jeff Hata, President of Rotary Club Ventura-East. “We are happy to provide the funds necessary to make this program a reality...with this program we truly feel that together, The Rotary Club of Ventura-East and the Ventura Family YMCA will reach out and touch many hands and truly make this world a better place to be.”

A mandatory meeting for all shelter and transitional living directors, who are interested in participating in the program, will take place on April 21 at the Ventura Family YMCA. The first swim session will kick off on May 17.

If you would like more information on Operation Splash and how you can help contribute items to the program please contact Amber Stevens at the Ventura Family YMCA at 805-642-2131 ext 19 or amber.stevens@ciymca.org.

Eco-clubs attract young members

By Arnold R. Grahl
 Rotary International News -- 21 April 2010

A growing number of Rotary clubs have found that focusing on the environment helps them bring in new members and gain visibility in the community.

The Rotary Club of Duluth Superior Eco, Minnesota, USA, was chartered in November 2008 with the purpose of attracting younger people by being project oriented and environmentally minded.

Club president Marti Buscaglia says the club founders reasoned that young people would be more likely to have time on their hands than disposable income, and would be more engaged if they could take part in hands-on projects for a cause they felt strongly about. The club now has 54 members, most under the age of 40, and mostly women.

"The eco brings them in, and then they learn more about Rotary," says Buscaglia. "It's a good introduction to Rotary for younger people. They know they are going to be involved in something they personally care about."

Buscaglia says conducting green projects has also given the club increased media coverage. "It's a hot topic right now, something everyone is reporting on," she says. For Earth Day, 22 April, the club is planning a large beach-cleaning project. Members have also planted trees and pulled buckthorn.

The Duluth Superior Eco club has caught the attention of other clubs. Kay Biga, secretary and cofounder, says she has heard from several clubs interested in following its model. The success is contagious, she says.

"Having eco in the name sends a message that we are different from other clubs in town," Biga says. "We are going to attract more younger people because the environment is very appealing to them. I also like themes. It seems people really gravitate to something if there is a theme involved to direct your activities.”

Robert Hunt, who now lives in Florida but often attended club meetings in Duluth, took the concept with him to the Rotary Club of East Manatee, where he serves as club president. Hunt says that being green has helped the club attract members, make a lasting impact on the community, and gain exposure for Rotary.

“Prospective members who have the same mindset will naturally be drawn to the prestige of what an eco-club can offer them,” he explains. “As we build more awareness, education, and identity, the membership will naturally increase.”

The East Manatee club conducts a road cleanup every three months, sorting out anything that can be recycled. It also held a successful shred-a-thon in March, encouraging community members to bring in old documents to be shredded and recycled. During a fall festival, club members collected hundreds of disposable plastic bottles in special containers they provided for the event.

Bigaseesmoreandmore service organizations adopting an environmental slant. “Green products are everywhere,” she says. “Everyone is becoming environmentally conscious. Service organizations have to be on board with the trends and with what’s appealing to people.”
